

Not The Way It's Supposed to Be: The State We Find Ourselves

Romans 5:12-21; 3:9-20

1. To understand sin, we should realize that sin and death are experienced by all people through the first man, Adam (Romans 5:12-14)
2. To understand sin, we should rejoice that God's grace through Jesus Christ abounds much more than our sin and is given as a gift to all who will receive it (Romans 5:15-17)
3. To understand sin, we should understand the effects of the righteousness of Jesus Christ versus the disobedience brought about by Adam (Romans 5:18-21)
4. To understand sin, we should be aware that the corruption of sin has affected every part of our person (Romans 3:9-20)
